SOIL CONSERVATION CONTINUES

FREE SERVICE IS OFFERED TO FARMERS HERE

Special Man Will Have Charge of Continuing Contour Work in Randall County

STARTS DEC. 1st

Year's Program Will Be of Great Benefit—Farmers Should See the County Agent

A definite start on a permanent soil conservation program in Randall county was made Monday. Land contouring work, under the direction of the County Agent, will be done without charge to the farmers under a co-operative arrangement with the Extension Service of the Texas A. & M. College, whereby a trained man will be assigned to Randall county to do conservation work similar to that which was done this past summer (as a Works Project), by J. W. Spencer, who worked under the direction of the County Agent in running contour lines for the farmers.

The new arrangement, which is somewhat similar, will make available a full time man for a period of one year. Most of the salary of the new man will be paid from a fund available through the A. & M. College Extension Service.

It is thought that this arrangement will enable Randall county to co-operate with the Federal Soil Conservation Program without the necessity of a more expensive set-up. The cost to the county of the entire project for one year will be only $420.00. Farmers who want contour lines run this winter, may apply at the County Agent's office any time after Dec. 1.

The direct benefits from terracing and contouring land in this section are so great in proportion to the cost, that most farmers will be glad to know that the work is to be made available.

The contouring of farm land is the first and most important step in moisture conservation and the prevention of wind erosion, according to H. H. Finnell of the Soil Erosion Service. Mr. Finnell says that the fight on soil blowing must start with the conservation of

WPA Projects Make Progress on Campus

District Manager Meets With Local Officials—Sewing Started For the Women

R. W. Willis, project manager for this district, was here Friday to meet with the Commissioners Court, members of the County Planning Board and other citizens regarding progress of WPA in this county.

After inspection of work under way on the campus, Mr. Willis expressed great satisfaction with progress which was being made. He stated that the work being done was very useful and that the men were working in a satisfactory manner.

More projects are ready for release as soon as more men are available.

"It is the policy of WPA not to release projects until those underway are nearly completed," stated Mr. Willis. Under this plan, all men will be continued upon the campus projects as long as the full crew is needed for this work.

The street jobs are progressing rapidly.

Foundation work on the balance of Buffalo Courts is being completed this week, so that the rock

Bids on Three PWA Projects Opened Dec. 12

Campus Improvements to Be Let—Postpone Jobs Advertised For Next Week's Lettings

Change has been made in letting PWA contracts for W. T. Two projects were slated for letting next Monday, but now the bids of all three will be opened on Dec. 12th.

The three projects are: Furniture for Stafford Hall; the swimming pool and athletic field improvements; and the Home Economics building.

Rittenberry & Carder, architects, notified the News yesterday of the change in letting the contracts as prescribed by the PWA office in Fort Worth.

The three projects have been approved for some time, but the letting of contracts has taken a great deal of time. Construction of the swimming pool and home economics cottage will probably not be possible before the middle of February.

No word has been received as to when construction will start on the ten cottages, additional grant for which was approved by PWA in Washington last week.

Clean clothing is needed for the work on this project. Clothing which may be worked over for children is the principal need at the present time. Those who have clothing should take it to the relief office at once. There are many children in the county who need winter clothes.

Buffaloes End Season With a 7 to 6 Victory

Whip Sul Ross Saturday in Home Coming Event—John Lee Suffers Broken Leg

Bidding the '35 season farewell, the Buffaloes overcame a mountain of opposition Saturday afternoon in Alpine and won their sugar game from the Loboes 7 to 6 as Gov. James V. Allred and 6,000 mad fans saw a battling herd of Buffaloes come from behind in the last stanza to make the Loboes' homecoming a sad one.

The Buffs had trouble getting their eye on the ball during the first half, and the Loboes drove at random through the Buffs middle section to score. They continued their daring exploits, but folded up several times on the ten yard stripe, and their scoring machine jammed as the Buffs put up a great exhibition of defensive work.

A boy named Pierce made the afternoon a busy one for the Teachers as he pounded hard at the Buffalo forward wall, but a hustling bunch of Buffs made the score more than even as they marched to glory in the last quarter.

Receiving the ball near midfield, the Buffs took the ball straight into scoring territory without faltering. Here Floyd Murry heaved a long pass, and Toby Waggoner leaped high into the air and pulled the pellet into his mid-section as he stumbled over the line making the score even. Lwood Dow continued his taking ways as he calmly booted the ball between the uprights from placement to make the Buffs' visit to the Big Bend Country a fruitful one.

John Lee suffered a broken ankle on the third play. This was the only serious accident for the Buffalo Herd during the season, but caused the team to weaken in the early session of the battle.

The victory over the strong Sul Ross team was considered by local fans as a fitting climax to a successful season.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY SEE GENERAL RAIN

Wheat Will Get a Fine Start After Drouth of the Fall and Winter Months

RAIN IS GENERAL

Moisture For Year Now Little More Than Total For 1934—Outlook Has Improved

A slow falling rain covered the Southwest Monday and Tuesday bringing the best fall moisture this section has had for several years.

The rain amounted to 1.10 inches Monday, with .15 of an inch Tuesday.

The moisture came at a time when most needed in this section. Hundreds of acres of wheat planted this fall had not come up. Many farmers reported that the wheat which had started growing was beginning to die in sections of the country owing to the continued fall drouth. The sample of dust storm last week made the citizens wonder if this section was to undergo another experience as this spring.

The rainfall continued from early Monday morning until nearly noon Tuesday. At no time was the downpour sufficiently hard that the moisture escaped, every drop going into the ground as it fell.

Within a few days the Panhandle section will be a green pasture as the wheat gets started. With normal spring rains there is no doubt of a good wheat yield next spring, considering the ample moisture which has now fallen.

The rainfall this year amounts to 13.49 inches. The total of 1934 was 13.19 inches.

First Power Plant Building Is Being Wrecked by Texas U.

The old sheet iron building which housed the first power plant in Canyon was wrecked this week by the Texas Utilities Company. The building was erected in 1905 when the first power plant was erected here.

Some of the old machinery still stands at the site of the first plant.

The first plant was erected by a local company, which went into the hands of a receiver and was operated until taken over by the First National Bank. A. J. Arnold bought the plant and later sold it to the Texas Utilities Company.

A new brick building was erected, and new machinery was installed. The local plant is not used excepting in cases of emergency since Canyon is connected with high lines from the north, south, and west, making complete circuits with the big plants of Amarillo, Clovis, and Abernathy.

Bones Fractured in Rockwell's Neck by Automobile Wreck

M. H. Rockwell was in the hospital several days this week as the result of the car accident last Wednesday. He has been returned to his home north of Canyon, but will likely be in bed for some time.

In the first report of the accident, it was thought none of the Rockwell family was seriously injured. Mr. Rockwell's neck pained him so Wednesday night that he was taken to the hospital Thursday where the X-ray disclosed two fractured vertebrate.

Mrs. John Fry was with the family but escaped without serious injury.

Miss Dorothy Gore has recently been appointed Rural Home Supervisor for Fisher County under the Rehabilitation plan. She left the first of this week for Roby, where she will report for work.

Thanksgiving time is here once more. The pessimist will wonder what there is to be thankful for. The optimist will find many things for which he may be thankful. He is thankful that things have improved to some extent over last year. He can be thankful that for the past few months a steady business average has been maintained, with the inclination being in favor of general recovery in the nation. He may be thankful that more people are at work today, than were a year ago, as shown on relief rolls. He may be thankful the nation's health conditions are at their best; that men and women are taking care of themselves better than they have in the past as a result of more leisure time, and a saner mode of living. He may be thankful that we have a sympathetic government which is demanding that people neither starve or freeze to death; but that so far as lies within its power, this government shall give every person a chance to make a living. He will be thankful that this government determined to stay out of the entanglements of another foreign war. The American people have many things for which they may be thankful—the greatest of which is that they live in America.

The old age pension was signed last week by Governor Allred. He has made the appointment of the commission to administer the new law. Hundreds of letters are pouring into Austin daily asking about the first payment on the pension. Those eligible to receive the pension should not become alarmed. The new law does not take effect until February 14; the commission, therefore, cannot officially make any plans until that time; no one knows exactly how this commission will administer the law; there will be no money available to make payments on the pension until after the legislature meets in January and passes a tax bill. Therefore, all that those who hope to receive the pension may do is to await official word from Austin as to the method of administering the law. By all means, do not pay any person to handle your application until you definitely know something about the new law. A lot of grafters have been working for the past month supposedly taking applications. These applications are worthless, since no one knows what sort of application the new commission will require. Ample publicity will be given and all who are eligible will be given a chance to make application.

Again the attention of Panhandle people is called to the terrible waste of gas in this section. More gas is is being wasted daily than is being used. So long as the supply holds out, no one is particularly disturbed about the situation, but when the distributing companies are forced to limit the useage of gas in this section, the people will be awakened to the foolishness that is going on at this time. The Railroad Commission thought it had an air tight law passed by the legislature whereby this waste could be stopped. Immediately the foolish American practice of "government by injunction" stepped in, an tied the hands of the Commission. While The News regrets much to say it, the more we study the gas and oil problem, the more convinced we are that this problem is one for national control, rather than for the individual states to handle. Maybe the national government could do no better with the situation than is the state, but at least it could do no worse. In the meanwhile the waste goes on.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has withdrawn as a regular contributor to the Baptist Church and will hereafter make contributions only to general religious work, non-denominational. Says Mr. Rockefeller in part:

"If the Church is to go forward, if it is to hold the young people of today who, generally speaking, are not greatly concerned about denominational distinctions and have a decreasing interest in sectarian missions and if their support of its activities is to replace that of older givers who pass on, these denominational distinctions are bound to fade in the forward movement of a great united Church open to all who seek to follow Christ and to find in Him the abundant life."

We doubt whether a very great percent of the church members of today under 30 or 40 years of age can tell why they belong to a certain denomination, excepting that their parents reared them in that faith. Mr. Rockefeller has taken a bold step which will bring much criticism to him. We doubt that he will live to see the day of unity of churches, such as he evidently hopes to bring about.

Congratulations, Buffaloes, on the end of a very successful season. Five wins, four losses, one tie, makes a mighty respectable score considering the hard schedule undertaken this year. The team won at least three of the games chalked up against them in superior play, but the breaks of the game gave their opponents the winning score. Coach Al Baggett has had a tough assignment every year since coming to Canyon. The tide has now turned in his favor. The Buffaloes have a bright outlook for next year—in fact, the brightest W. T. has had in a long time. If every eligible man will be back next fall in good physical condition and mental attitude, the Buffs can chalk up a 100% win season. How's that for a worthy goal for 1936?

The first published results of the Literary Digest poll has not created much excitement. Although this poll is slightly against the President, the fact that no concerted opposition has developed, and no one strong man has been developed as his opponent has caused no loss of sleep on the part of the President and his friends. With national affairs getting in better shape every day, the tide which swung away from the President this fall will gradually return to the favor of the Democratic party, which has attempted to do something for the people of this nation.

About Thanksgiving time it seems that the nation is football crazy, as the championship teams are engaged in the final games for supremacy. Unfortunately in Texas the high school championship battles are really just getting started as the bi-district games get under way toward the state championship game. As a result, too little school work is being done in those schools which produce winning teams.

The merchants of Canyon have prepared for the Christmas shoppers. Never has such careful preparations been made to stock the stores with goods which will appeal to the people of Randall county. Special interest is centered in the special day which will be announced soon at which time shoppers of the county will be given an opportunity to visit Canyon, be entertained, and to look over these stocks of new merchandise. When you get ready for Christmas shopping, do not overlook the opportunities of buying at home.

Says Captain Irving O'Hay, world traveler, veteran of many wars:

"Don't worry about the Italian-Ethiopian war. That's like Primo Carnera taking a punch at Shirley Temple. Italy hasn't amounted to much since Julius Caesar was bumped off. Mussolini raised a nation of beggars to a second class power and now he's trying to build a national spirit. But he's in for a licking, because of his own stupidity. He's getting too far from his base of supplies in Ethiopia."

There are very, very few people who would continue to live in this community if Canyon were to be suddenly wiped out as a town, with all of its business interests transferred or abandoned. Without business, this would be another cow pasture. Think of that when you spend money away from home for things which could be bought here in Canyon.

Another thing to be thankful for: That you may eat your fill of Thanksgiving turkey, and not have to worry about the results as will the chaps who tote the football this afternoon for your amusement and pleasure.

Saturday will be the last day to make a contribution to the Will Rogers Memorial Fund. Please leave your contribution at the News office or at the First National Bank.

It is hard to conceive why A. E. Harding of Fort Worth should conceive of running for Governor. But candidates will be candidates, regardless.

THANK YOU, AMERICA,

for more than a Million cars in 1935

This year Chevrolet has two very good reasons for saying, "Thank you, America."

One reason is that people have bought so many Chevrolet cars that production for the year will reach 1,040,000.

And the other reason is that they have placed a record number of orders for new 1936 Chevrolets during the first few weeks they have been on display.

Chevrolet is indeed happy to say, "Thank you, America," and to pledge continued adherence to the manufacturing and service policies which have won and held the friendship of the nation.

New Capital Temple Is Filing Cabinet for Uncle Sam's 'Family Papers'

IN what is probably the greatest and most luxurious filing cabinet in the world—a $12,000,000 Grecian temple, with ultra-modern appointments—Uncle Sam is assembling and filing all his "family papers," including famed historical documents, which for decades have lain scattered about Washington.

The gigantic "filing case" in question is the beautiful, recently completed National Archives building. In the years to come this place will shield from harm the precious federal records which tell the history of America.

Twelve-ton bronze doors guard entrance to the files, which will delight teachers, students, lawyers, and other research scholars who formerly were put to great expense and inconvenience in finding the material they sought.

There are no windows, and air-conditioning equipment removes acid from the air, besides maintaining a temperature of 72 degrees; thus light, heat, and outside air cannot affect the documents.

In addition to papers, motion picture films of important historical events will be stored away and there is a small movie theater in which such films may be shown.

IN the new Archives building, millions of documents, ranging all the way from a British debt-defaulting note to AAA correspondence with an Iowa farmer, eventually will find a home.

Some of the more hallowed documents to be filed there include the Treaty of Paris of 1783, in which Great Britain recognized the independence of the United States; Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, freeing 3,000,000 slaves; the Versailles Treaty of 1919; the 1917 resolution in which Congress declared war against Germany; and the Kellogg Pact of 1928.

There is a special shrine for America's two most famous documents, the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, and 22 floors of shelf space for other data.

In one room, pages too precious to be touched are reproduced by a giant camera, which takes pictures, develops, dries, and delivers them, one every 26 seconds, without benefit of human hand.

THE formidable task of gathering, selecting, classifying, and filing the innumerable thousands of papers and documents that have cluttered all available space in the capital faces a studious Carolinian.

Soon after Congress, in June, 1934, enacted a bill creating the office of archivist of the United States, President Roosevelt appointed Robert Digges Wimberly Connor of North Carolina the nation's first archivist.

Formerly professor of American history at the University of North Carolina, Dr. Connor must organize under one roof, and classify, this vast collection of American "family papers."

Immensity of this task is revealed by the fact that it has taken the librarians of this country some 30 years or more to evolve their standard classification systems. Dr. Connor hopes to complete a somewhat similar task in six months.

We Are Thankful

There is plenty of Thanksgiving in our hearts today as we think of the fine friends which are ours, and the many, many blessings which have been ours throughout this year. May the peace, happiness and joy of Thanksgiving be yours in great abundance, and your happiness multiply.

Training School Centennial Fair Excites Interest

Reaches Culmination In Program Presented In Chapel

Cookies made from cotton seed flour and served to visitors of the cotton exhibit were only one surprise included in the Demonstration School Centennial Fair of Texas products. The fair, opening Friday afternoon, closed Saturday at noon with a program given in the Administration auditorium.

Each exhibit, representing the culmination of a unit of study, was placed in charge of a grade under the supervision of the teacher. The materials used were brought from home or constructed as a part of the classroom work. A picture show and fortune telling booth were included in the fair.

The chapel program, under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark, included musical numbers, dances, and dialogues pertaining to Texas.

Pets, from white mice to parrots, were brought and exhibited by the members of the first grade. A food exhibit, supplemented by posters, was arranged by the second grade.

A locomotive, coal car, and covered wagon were shown by the third grade. These vehicles were constructed of a barrel and boards, and were large enough for the pupils to ride in.

The intermediate grades were in charge of the mineral, cotton and miscellaneous exhibits. Both raw and finished products were shown. The proceeds of the fair will be used to buy books for the demonstration school library.

"Where You Always Meet A Friend"

Unique Blanket Is Shown In Indian Display at Museum

A Navajo blanket, its design a copy of an Indian sand painting is one of those in the collection owned by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and on display in the museum here.

Few people have ever seen sand paintings, for they are used by the Indians only in ceremonials to heal the sick, and none but medicine men are allowed to make them.

One of the few white people who has seen one made says, "The sand painting is made in a hogan, or Navajo house; the old men of the tribe sit in a half-circle and watch the Medicine Man as he carefully places the grains of colored sand which made the figures. If they think he is not doing the work exactly as their traditions require, they argue with him, or lift the sand and replace it properly.

"Sands of many colors are used, and when the figures are completed the painting is well-balanced and beautiful; every bit of it has a meaning, but its symbolism cannot be completely read by the white person.

"Although white people are never allowed to see the healing ceremony in which the sand painting is used, it is known that the part of the body in which the patient is suffering, is treated by placing upon it sand from the same parts of the sand figures.

"Another strange thing about the sand painting is that tradition requires that it be destroyed at sunset."

It is only within recent years that sand painting designs have been used for blankets. The blanket in the museum has thirteen figures, seven of which are apparently men. Arrows, pointing both up and down, the hands pointing up and half down, and belts, and beads of bright red, orange, dark green, black, brown, tan, and light gray against a background of soft dark gray—earth color—made up the design.

This blanket belongs to a collection given the museum by Miss Susan J. Allen of Haverford, Pennsylvania, asa memorial to her parents.

Valiant War on Tree Scourges Marks Progress in 60 Years of Forestry

NINETEEN THIRTY-SIX marks the 60th anniversary of the first step toward forestry in the United States.

In 1876, after a careful study of the nation's timber, Franklin B. Hough, Uncle Sam's first "forest agent," raised his voice in warning that America's store of trees was slowly but surely dwindling.

People thought him a crank. Most Americans then thought our forests imperishable. Indeed, farmers and home-builders welcomed forest fires which saved them the trouble of clearing timberland.

Nevertheless, Hough's warning had its effect. Seeds of a future tree conservation campaign were sowed in the minds of the public.

Far-sighted though he was, Pioneer Hough could never have imagined the splendid progress in tree conservation that was to be achieved in the next half century.

Since Congress appropriated $2000 to finance Hough's forest inventory, there have been 10 significant milestones on the road to an intelligent, economical forest policy. In 1886, the Division of Forestry was created. President Harrison established the Yellowstone Park timberland preserve in 1891. In 1897, the present National Forest Act was passed. The Bureau of Forestry, established in 1901, became the Forest Service in 1905.

Four successive measures—the Weeks law, 1911; the Clarke-McNary bill, 1924; the McNary-Woodruff act, 1928; and the McSweeney-McNary act, 1928—all strengthened the nation's forest policy.

In 1933, the president sent his forest work relief message to Congress; and in 1933, the first CCC corps camp was established.

IN his most optimistic moments, Hough could never have foreseen the measures under way today to protect U. S. timber stands. He could never have visioned a forest army known as the Civilian Conservation Corps putting in 1,841,000 man days quelling forest fires; nor the 33,459 miles of telephone lines threading forest areas to convey fire warnings; to say nothing of lookout towers, airplane blaze "spotters," radioed alarms, etc.

He could hardly have foretold that an unrelenting war would be waged against the 2000 known kinds of insects which annually kill millions of trees.

The first "forest agent," appointed nearly 60 years ago, would have been delighted to watch CCC lads fight forest fires, deadly menace to the nation's trees.

And while they are fighting forest scourges, the corps and other agencies are busy replanting thousands of trees each year, in an attempt to stem the tide of deforestation.

TRULY, as Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, has said, "forestry has come far since 1876."

To commemorate the 60th anniversary of the first step in forestry, Mr. Pack has announced printing of the 43rd edition of his Forest Primer, which, when distributed, will make a total of 4,300,000 copies provided for schools and other education use.

Some of the forestry facts pointed out in the Primer are:

North America, with one twelfth of the world's people, uses about one-half of all timber consumed in the world. Each year about 400,000,000 trees are felled to provide telegraph and telephone poles, fence posts, railroad ties, newsprint, etc.

Forest fires during 1934 cost the United States $124,000 a day nearly 42,000,000 acres having been swept by flames during that year.

In short, the Primer brings renewed emphasis to the warning which Franklin B. Hough uttered nearly 60 years ago.

Wayside Items

We are grateful for the heavy mist and fog this Monday morning. Heavy enough to drip from the eaves of the house. This will help wheat which is needing moisture. Only a few times has ice formed. Hear of some who have killed pork.

No report from Mr. and Mrs. Burlond.

Rev. N. S. Daniel and family of Vigo Park were with us Sunday. We are glad to have them returned for the new year, and they are pleased to come back. He gave us two excellent sermons, noon and night, and Mrs. Daniel gave us a fine story. She is quite an expert in this line.

W. C. McGehee, wife and Jack, returned Thursday from their trip to Kansas City. Mrs. McGehee visited a number of her brothers and sisters.

Bro. Arthur Coleman is expected to return later, when our new church will be dedicated. Wayside always has a welcome for him.

Cal Farley of Amarillo will be at Wayside Dec. 13, with his "Flying Dutchman Circus," proceeds of which will be given to the unfinished church. This is his second donation of this kind. We appreciate this very much. There will be a small admission charge. Everyone is invited to be with us.

Just a month until Christmas.

Ladies of the Wayside community will donate articles suitable for Christmas gifts to be auctioned off, all proceeds to go to the church debt.

Fifty in attendance at Sunday School. Fine for the inclement day. Bevies of little folks who had no thought of threatening weather present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alter of Slaughters, Ky., reached Wayside Sunday afternoon. He is an older brother of Mrs. George Burlond. They came for Mr. and Mrs. Burlond. The two couples left early Wednesday morning for Kentucky. Both Mr. and Mrs. Burlond are in poor health. We fear bearly able to make the trip. They will be missed at Wayside, especially at the church. As janitors, they were faithful, to do their part.

John T. McGehee and Joyce Lane made a trip to Mills, N. M., Saturday. Saw J. M. McGehee who was returning from a three days deer hunt. Unluckily none of the crowd were successful in killing a deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mahler made a business trip to Amarillo Wednesday.

Wayside Methodists are glad to have Rev. N. S. Daniel returned for 1936.

Glad to report Mrs. Floyd Adams is improving some—able to ride out. Miss Osce McCrerey is visiting with her this week.

Where U. S. Tests Matanuska Crops

If the U. S. farmers who were transported to Alaska's Matanuska valley succeed in forming a prosperous colony and wresting a livelihood from the soil, much of the credit will belong to the territorial experiment station pictured above. Here federal agricultural experts grow and experiment with crops, study the climate, soil, and products best adapted to growth in the Arctic region; and pass the results of their study on to the pioneering farmers. Judging from the picture at right, the colonists' children are enjoying themselves. These two apparently are thrilled by their new "parkas," similar to those worn by Eskimos and polar explorers. The native fur cloaks keep the youngsters warm as, during the Alaskan winter, they travel between home and school at Palmer.

WEST SIDE CLUB HAS LARGEST ATTENDANCE

A most successful year of demonstration work was brought to a close last Friday afternoon with an achievement day program and pantry exhibit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Baber. One hundred twenty-five guests, including the economics class of the training school enjoyed the program and viewed the pantry, which was placed second in a county-wide contest.

The program was a cleverly arranged mock radio broadcast of music, readings, and reports by the club, as well as the usual advertising. As the guests registered, each was presented a pot holder, a gift of the club. The beautiful colors of red, yellow, gold and brown were carried out in all the decorations and refreshments which suggested Thanksgiving and the harvest.

The well filled pantry contained shelves filled with jars of fruits and vegetables. On a table in one corner was a table with a beautiful centerpiece made of a pumpkin in a wreath of autumn leaves filled with nuts and fruits. Around it were arranged ears of yellow corn, yellow popcorn, red and green peppers, purple top turnips, red beets, white onions, yellow carrots, making a striking display. In another corner was a shock of red maize, with the pumpkins underneath, and quails sitting on top.

The refreshment plate held chicken sandwiches, upon which a small turkey was perched, and cookies. Mrs. Wm. Ash and Mrs. W. C. Roberts poured coffee at the lace-covered dining table, in the center of which was a large silver bowl of fruits and nuts.

There were visitors from all parts of the county, as well as from Happy, Hereford and Amarillo. Many were astonished at the quantity and quality of the exhibit, which is just another outstanding example of what can be accomplished by perserverance and hard work.

RESULTS OBTAINED BY H. D. WORKERS

14 bushels of sweet potatoes, valued at 3½ cents per pound or $22.54, were produced from $1.00 worth of potato slips by Mrs. Harley Burrus, co-operator in farm food supply, of the Lakeside Home Demonstration Club.

"I have bought bread twice since I became bread demonstrator at the first of the year," said Mrs. Noah Grimes, of the Garrison Home Demonstration club. "I find it cheaper to make by own bread and my family likes it better. I have averaged making four loaves a week."

$40.00 received from the sale of fryers left a profit of $7.74 after paying $32.26 the total expense of a pantry, valued at $186.16 by Mrs. Glen Dowlen, farm food supply demonstrator of the Sunny Hill Home Demonstration Club.

"I canned 244 quarts of fruits and fruit juices valued at $43.60. We raise all the fruit except the apples, pears, and plums, and we went to the canyons and gathered plums enough for me to put up all that I needed and to trade for all the pears I needed," said Mrs. G. H. Hardman, farm food supply demonstrator of the Edgetown Home Demonstration Club.

"Before I became pantry demonstrator for the Jowell Home Demonstration club, I just dreaded going to the basement for a jar of vegetables or meat, because I usually had to throw out about one half of my canned products on account of spoilage. But after attending demonstrations at the club I learned my trouble and now I enjoy canning and storing good products on my pantry shelves," said Mrs. Louis Hinders.

$289.17 was saved by canning, drying and curing food products at home by Mrs. Earl Wesley, farm food supply demonstrator of the Centerview Home Demonstration club. Mrs. Wesley sells eggs and chickens to buy all their food products not raised at home thus decreasing her expense account greatly.

MRS. ED JONES HAS ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM

The Achievement Day program for the Garrison Home Demonstration Club was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Jones last Thursday afternoon.

The program consisted of club songs by the women and 4-H club girls. The secretary's report was read, together with reports from the wardrobe, pantry and bread demonstrators. These reports were followed by a reading by Carrie Bauer. Mr. Wm. E. Davis gave a short talk on his experiences in China. T. C. Thompson gave a short talk and presented the ladies and children with gifts. The program was concluded with a stunt by the Johnson 4-H girls.

An inspection of the well filled pantry followed the program.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream and coffee were served to Mrs. L. H. Barnard, Mrs. U. F. Barnard, Mrs. J. D. McElroy, Mrs. C. M. Davis, Mrs. E. N. Zachry, Mrs. L. S. Pact May Spur U. S.-Canada Trade

Prediction that commerce between the U. S. and Canada would be doubled within two years was made by President Roosevelt when Cordell Hull, left, and Premier Mackenzie King signed the reciprocal trade treaty, effective Jan. 1, 1936. In effect, it restores duties to their pre-1930 level. Though American dairy and lumber interests, in particular, frowned on the pact, Secretary Wallace assured American farmers that in the long run they would benefit. In general, the treaty provides U. S. duty reductions on cattle, poultry, fish, certain dairy products and whiskies; while Canada reduced or removed duty rates on agricultural products, including fresh fruits, vegetables and wheat, potatoes, cotton, automobiles and industrial equipment.

A Real Public Enemy Is 'Black Widow,' Most Poisonous of U. S. Spiders

As a rule, people dislike spiders. Still, it isn't a really bothersome little creature. Most of the time it minds its own business, which is spinning webs inviting flies "into its parlor," and creating little spiders.

But, like human families, that of the spider has its black sheep or, rather, its "black widow." And it is the ravages of this "public enemy of spiderdom" that have, in the last year or so crashed almost as many headlines as have Dillinger, Floyd and others of the human underworld.

In recent months, a veritable epidemic of poisonings in west and south were attributed to the black widow spider. In these cases, the symptoms almost invariably were similar. There was the initial sting, followed soon by intense pain all over the body, violent cramps, a general rash, "board-like" abdomen fever, cold sweat, and difficulty in breathing.

In a number of cases, believed to have originated in the black widow's bite, deaths were reported. However, W. J. Baerg, of the University of Arkansas, who passed a very uncomfortable week after letting himself be bitten by one of the creatures, maintains it has never, so far as he knows, caused death.

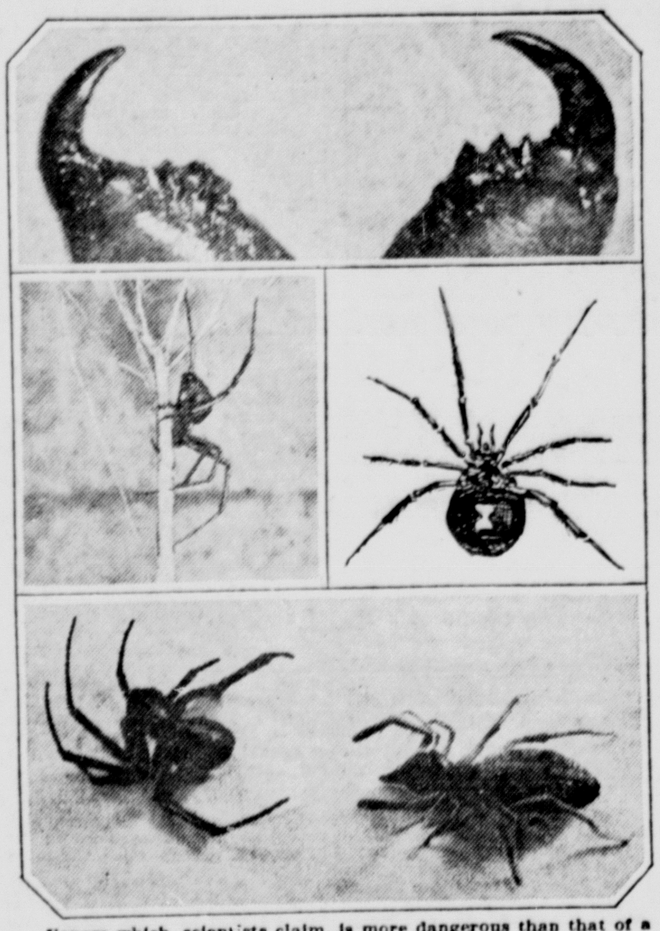
Of numerous white rats which Professor Baerg exposed to the black widow's bite, none died, which seemed to confirm his contention.

Nevertheless, whether or not its bite is deadly, this most poisonous American spider is feared even more than the rattlesnake in some parts of the United States; for instance, Texas.

For that matter, the Indians feared it long ago; some western tribes, in fact, used its venom to tip their arrows. And the widow's cousins in Russia, New Zealand, Spain, France, Italy, Madagascar, Australia — all are dreaded.

Its name the black widow spider owes to a gustatory affection for its dwarfish husband, which, after serving its purpose, is frequently eaten by the voracious mate.

The widow is also known as the "shoe-button" spider, from the shape of its body; and the "hour-glass" spider — on its shiny, coal-black body is a bright, red mark resembling an hour-glass. Technically, it is known as Latrodectus mactans. Since it has eight legs, not six, it is not, strictly speaking, an insect.



Venom which, scientists claim, is more dangerous than that of a rattlesnake, lurks in the black widow's murderous fangs, similar to those shown above, greatly magnified. At left, center, is a closeup of a black widow, and, at right, a sketch revealing the "hour glass" on its abdomen. Below, a black widow spider is pictured "down for the count" after being wounded by a Solpugid bug, right, which may be used in controlling black widow "epidemics."

Twice as large as the male of the species, the black widow is about a half inch in length, with a two-inch "leg spread." Scientists believe the venom in its hollow fangs to be more virulent, drop for drop, than that of a rattlesnake. And the black widow doesn't rattle a warning, although Professor Baerg learned that it was difficult to arouse.

He had to "insult" it for some time before it was indignant enough to nip him.

Unlike the common field spider, the black widow haunts dark, unfrequented places such as basements, lofts, outbuildings, and lumber piles. It is especially fond of dry places; the recent dry months, incidentally, are believed the reason for the sudden increase of the species.

Scientists are endeavoring to combat the widow's ravages in several ways. They are experimenting with tiny wasps, which bore into spider eggs to lay their eggs, causing spiders to die as the eggs hatch; and with a species of common fly which dotes on spider eggs.

A HALF MILLION FOR YOU

In his stimulating book, "Life Begins at Forty," Walter B. Pitkin says that we all come into the world with a certain chance of acquiring a working capital of a round half-million. No, not dollars—hours! Those hours will be paid in full if we are skillful enough and lucky enough to stick around until we reach the age of three score years and ten.

Our greatest sin is the measuring of everything in terms of money. We should get off the money-standard, and on to the time-standard in our thinking. The art of living is the art of getting the most out of the minutes that are ours. How to make every minute count for happiness, for growth, for service, for peace and contentment—that is our real objective.

The man who burns himself out piling up wealth and then spends the sunset of his life sitting on the porch of a sanitarium watching the healthy poor go by—has failed. He has failed in his use of time—the minutes that came to him bright and shining from eternity—just as they come to you and me. In his accumulation of millins of dollars he has sacrificed thousands of hours of happiness. For time, not money, is the stuff that life is made of.

Deserved all the honor that has since been accorded them.

They had the vision of a land of homes with religious freedom and had the courage to sacrifice for their ideal. And they were thankful for the manifestation of God's goodness to them.

Electric Energy Costs in the Low Price Field

The average budget during the last few months has met with any number of adjustments . . . The low figure of electric energy costs has been outstanding among the numerous items which appear in the average budget . . . More people are realizing daily that the trend of electric rates has been steadily downward for several years—even prior to the last few months . . . Better and improved methods of electric generation as well as the increasing number of useful means to which electric energy may be put have both contributed largely to this downward trend.

In line with a well established policy of this company in the way of adequate facilities and reasonable rates every customer has benefitted materially through the use of electric service. The most recent contribution in making the service more available has found an increasing number of homes taking advantage of the company's ultimate rate for residential consumption. We are confident that you will find it to your interest to become better acquainted with how you may be benefitted.

Japan Moves Again to Split China

Japan's latest move in the series which has brought much of northern China under Nippon's influence came when she demanded, under threat of invasion, that Chinese leaders set up a northern self-governing state. The provinces of Chahar, Suiyuan, Shansi, Hopei and Shantung, which may be affected, are shown in the map, together with Korea, Manchukuo, and Jehol, already under Japanese control. Art Students Will Have Work Shown at TSTA Meeting

Work done by art students of W. T. will be shown at the State Teachers meeting in San Antonio. Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the art department, was invited by Miss Allene Wrather, who is in charge of the exhibits, to hang work by her students this year.

Most of the material sent was chosen from the classes now being taught.

The exhibit will consist of designing, contour drawing; pen and ink, pencil, and brush and ink sketches; wash drawings of landscapes done in brown ink; crayon drawing, and batik compositions in black and white.

Representative design units will be featured, the freshman art classes showing striped rug designs and the sophomore classes cut paper and textile designs in color.

The advanced classes will feature drawings from life.

Etchings, costume designs, and water color sketches will be included in the exhibit. As these courses are not being taught this semester the work will of necessity be taken from last year's classes.

This is the first year W. T. has had an exhibit at the annual T. S. T. A. convention.

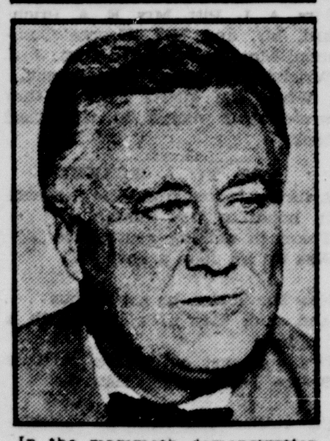
New Deal Foe's State Honors FDR



In the mammoth demonstration planned in Atlanta, Ga., for President Roosevelt's "homecoming" on Nov. 29 to the state he considers his "second home," Gov. THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

Cornelia Otis Skinner To Present "Times Square" Here December 5

A new character sketch, "Times Square," will be an outstanding feature by Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner, internationally known actress, when she appears here on Dec. 5, as the second lyceum number of the year.

In "Times Square," Miss Skinner will bring to life eight other women—an Italian gum-seller, a chorus girl, a society woman on way to theater, an office girl, a southern girl in New York, a wife with an ailing husband, a tough girl with a sailor, and a dope fiend. There is no trickery in the feat, but there is a great deal of magic—the kind of magic which produces that rarest of rarities—creative acting.

The sketches which Miss Skinner will present here will range from bitterly ironic tragedy to hilarious comedy. Into their making will go the results of sympathetic observation, a fine feeling for the dramatic and an exquisite sense of humor. It is this well developed ability to see and portray comedy that is her greatest gift.

Miss Skinner modestly calls her impersonations "character sketches" but they are much more than the outlines this title implies. Somehow, she manages to place her people in the midst of their own lives and cause them to reveal not only their characteristics but also the events and contacts with other persons which have made them what they are.

She is a theater unto herself, a single embodiment of all the virtues and none of the faults that go to make up the highest concept of the theater whose noblest traditions have survived the age—the "holding of a mirror up to nature"—to reflect the mental, spiritual and physical turmoil of life in the actual living. She has made her place and should continue to occupy it to the continued glory of the theater.

C. H. S. CELEBRATES AMERICAN BOOK WEEK

The celebration of Book Week this year in America is planned to strengthen the students over the nation to become more interested in books and their value than they have been in the past.

Books, as we know them today, are a product of the modern period and there are many different varieties of books in comparison with those that were published in 1800.

Students of Canyon High School, did you realize how fortunate you were in having a large library in the school within your grasp? In the days of your grandparents, books were very expensive and scarce. Today books are comparatively cheap and plentiful, and are placed within our reach; so why not take advantage of them? People used to walk miles and miles for a book to read, while today books are under our noses. You may never be able to travel the globe and enrich your lives with the thrilling adventures which explorers and tourists enjoy, but your life can be made rich through similar experiences in books.

Students of Canyon High School, let's join in with the other boys and girls of America, who are determined to make more use of books this coming year than they have in the past. After all, our best friends are our books.

FOUR TEACHERS ATTEND T.S.T.A. THANKSGIVING

THE T. S. T. A. MEETS EVERY YEAR AT SOME PRINCIPAL CITY. THIS YEAR IT MEETS AT SAN ANTONIO.

Four members of the Canyon High School faculty are attending the Texas State Teachers Association in San Antonio this week.

The T. S. T. A. meets every year at Thanksgiving time in some principal city of Texas. It met last year in Galveston. The organization aims to help the teachers of Texas and help to solve some of the problems of the curriculum.

Sophomores Study Scott's "Ivanhoe"

A round table discussion of "Ivanhoe" was given by eight students to the sophomore English class, section one, last Thursday. These students: Lillian Chambers, Sarah Thompson, Mary C. Word, Margaret Stewart, Zella Laughery, Billy Sternenberg, Clarence Zachery, and R. E. Prichard read "Ivanhoe" as an outside project in English.

It has given them an introduction to the study of feudalism that they are now taking up in World history.

The world history classes have been studying the period of feudalism and have found it quite interesting.

Several large pictures of German castles posted on the blackboard have attracted quite a bit of attention. The class is quite anxious to see the show "Crusades" which will be here today and tomorrow.

Eagles Have New Season Business

What will the Eagles do now? Probably some people have been wondering this all along. No, their pride won't let them crawl in a hole and pull the hole in after them. They are still determined to make the Purple Eagle a winner.

Douglas Brasuel, Darwin Dobbs, Wesley Cox, Melvin Calliham, C. L. Drummond, Thomas Harris, Wandell Johnson, Les Lisle, Jack Middleton, Ralph Rusk, and Jack Taylor are going to come out for basketball.

Lavert Avent and Sewel Cox refuse to quit the fighting game. They plan to pass the time boxing.

Herschel Burrus is going to "rest up a while."

O. D. Brietling is going to get all his back school work in.

Billy Bewley is going to make a straight "A" card now.

"Speedy" Wilkinson doesn't know what will happen to him.

Local Studios Take Senior Poses Early

The Senior Class of '36 is having its senior pictures made early this year to avoid the last minute rush and to be able to fill memory books with desired exchanges.

The students may choose either Britain's or Terry's Studio in which to have their pictures made.

The final date set, before which all pictures should be taken, is December 2. The pictures will be mounted in a large frame and be placed in the hall as the senior pictures have been in the past.

BLACK GIVES GLEE CLUB TEA

The glee club was given a tea at the home of Miss Virginia Jarrett last Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, by Miss Gwendolyn Black, sponsor.

The program consisted of two piano selections, "A Valse from Livitski," and "Country Gardens," by Miss Frances Usery; two violin solos, "Farewell to Cucuallain," and "When I Grow too Old to Dream," by Miss Marie Fronabarger. She was accompanied by Mrs. Millard Word. The girls' quartet, Marjorie Wilkinson, Edrie McNeil, Hazel Sanders, and Mary Ella Davis, sang some popular selections. Mrs. Word played piano selections including "Silver Brooms," a piece of her own composition. Miss Usery played several impromptu pieces, and the girls sang a number of songs.

Pastor J. R. Hicks Delivers Speech In Chapel Wednesday

"The thing I have the least of, is my subject for discussion this afternoon," stated Rev. J. R. Hicks as he spoke in Assembly Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 20, on the question of "Time."

He quoted from Shakespeare, "I wasted time; now time is wasting me." He explained that if you waste time now with idleness, time will waste your life with idleness later on. That is if you don't prepare yourself in some profession now in your spare time, later you will waste your life with time when you might have been a great help to the world instead of a burden.

He gave Lincoln as an example of a man using his time in a valuable manner.

He concluded his speech by giving three of his own definitions of time, which are:

1. Time is opportunity to invest your life.
2. Time is what your life is.
3. It is our own divine gift in which to live our life; it gives us visions of life and man.

Hereford Defeats Eagles 33 to 7 Friday Afternoon

Some Hereford cattle came to town
With bright and gay refrain
The Eagles made a touchdown
But the feathers flew again.

This is a four line description of the 33 to 7 defeat the Hereford Whitefaces handed the Canyon Eagles last Friday afternoon. Hereford chose to take the kickoff after which they met strong opposition from the Eagles. It was late in the initial quarter, after a beautiful demonstration of passing and ball carrying, before Clayton, Hereford powerhouse, plunged over center for the opening counter.

Clayton converted the extra point.

The second quarter opened with a greater determination from both teams. Hereford took possession of the ball about the middle of the second quarter, and after several good runs, placed the ball on Canyon's 26-yard line. It was here that Daniels, shifty Hereford back, made a spectacular play by side-stepping and stiff-arming his way to the goal which netted the second counter for the visitors. The try for the extra point was wide.

Canyon Scores

Canyon received the kickoff and was forced to punt. The punt was fumbled by the Hereford safety, and Canyon recovered. After two tries to plunge the line with no success, Dobbs passed to Johnson who was over the goal line; this netted the only counter for the Eagles. Johnson's place kick was good.

The half ended with Hereford 13, and Canyon 7.

Hereford used power plays the major portion of the last half. Daniels was able to chalk up another score only in the third quarter. Patton, substitute Hereford back, also accounted for two touchdowns in the last half, one late in the third quarter and one early in the final quarter.

Thus the game ended with Hereford 33 and Canyon 7.

Refreshments of pimento cheese sandwiches, olives, pickles, nuts, mints, gingerbread with whipped cream, and hot cocoa with marshmallows were served at 10:30.

The table cloths and napkins were decorated with Thanksgiving designs; favors were tiny, red Santa Clauses, and prizes consisted of two Fourth of July horns. These were to carry out the theme of a Nutty Party.

The Hereford and Canyon football boys and Hereford Pep Squad were entertained last Friday in the grade school gymnasium by the Canyon Pep Squad.

Each member of the Hereford Pep Squad and football team was taken into the gymnasium by a member of the Canyon Pep Squad and football team.

A short program was given. Mary Collins, Mary Ella Davis, Edrie McNeil and Marjorie Wilkinson sang "Cheek to Cheek," and "Isn't it a Lovely Day." Two tap dances were given by Carolyn Mayfield, Martha Jo Newlin, and Billy Greenfield.

After the program the group was served, in buffet style, sandwiches, pickles, cookies, and lemonade.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

Well, well, if it isn't basketball season, and by the way, the girls have been learning much. No wonder! Just look who's coaching them—Gerald Brown and Lenna Foster. There are more girls out for practice this year than there have been in several years, and this is the first year the girls have had a man coach in several years; so if you put two and two together it makes four.

The girls played some of the grade school teachers last Tuesday, and it surely must have been one more game.

Just a few basketball expressions: "Nuts to you, from me and twelve other people." "O. K. Hot Shot, let's have it," and "I have a sneaking idea you're going to miss that goal."

Wonder if the boys are going to get the grade school gymnasium every afternoon, or will they be sports and let the girls have it once in a while. If the school chooses to let the boys have it every day, the girls will be good sports as they always have, and forget it.

The boys will start practice Monday under the direction of Coach C. C. Jones.

THANKSGIVING OBSERVED

Today at 3 o'clock marked the beginning of the Thanksgiving holidays which will continue thru Sunday in order that the teachers may attend the Texas State Teachers Association. The students of Canyon High School will spend the vacation days in various ways such as visiting, loafing, working, eating, and attending football games.

GUESS WHO

Five feet three
Freshman boy, full of glee
He is loud and witty
To the girls he offers no pity.
He has dark brown, dancing eyes
He is not very large in size.

Answer to last week's "Guess Who," Mary Collins.

Thought Of The Week

The object of Discipline is not to repress Individuality, but to serve as the rungs of a ladder which enables youth to mount to the hight of Self Discipline. When that is accomplished character is builded and education has achieved its chiefest end.

This is the quotation found on the "Messages of Merit" board outside the superintendent's office. A new quotation is used each week. These will be run every week in this column.

EDITORIAL

"The frost is on the pumpkin
And the fodder is in the shock."

Thanksgiving—it goes on forever. It was begun by our forefathers, the Pilgrims, and has continued through these many years.

Thanksgiving is not only the time for football games and turkey, pumpkin pie, and other delicacies, but a time to offer a prayer of thanks to God.

No one can be thankful if he does not give freely. Maybe you don't have turkey and all the trimmings, but did you ever stop to think that some one might not even have as much as you have; so share it.

Some may say, "Well, what have I to be thankful for?"

You have a lot to be thankful for if outside the sun is shining and you have plenty to eat, plenty to wear, and a family or friends.

To those who have the privilege of going to school—are you thankful for your opportunity? Two weeks ago, all America observed American Education Week, and the history of the growth of public education in America was brought before the people. Last week America observed Book Week, and people were reminded of the rich opportunities for reading on every hand.

Has it occurred to you to be thankful for Canyon High School, its teachers, and a large library full of good and educational books. Did any of you ever stop to think about the hardships our forefathers went through to institute schools throughout this land of ours?

You should be thankful during this Thanksgiving season, and whatever you have, be it small or great, share it with someone, that this will be a happier, better, and a more thankful world in which to live.

Students March At Clang! Clang!

Clang! Clang! Clang!

In answer to this signal the students rise and march out of the building in single, orderly file.

The captains of the rooms and halls direct them. The monitors close all windows and doors and report to hall captains.

At two rings of the new fire bell, built by Milton Sanders, manual training instructor, the students march back into the building and resume their work.

These drills are under the supervision of the Student Council. The first drill was held on Tuesday and drills will be continued throughout the year.

FIRST GRADE GIVES TEA IN PLAYHOUSE

A tea party given by the first grade under the direction of Miss Virginia Jarrett, completed the unit on homemaking in which the pupils have constructed a playhouse.

The children assisted in serving. The boys served the cookies and candies, while Joanne Gammon served the punch in the playhouse.

The group sent invitations to the following: Mrs. T. W. Collins and her first grade, I. M. Steen, Supt. I. B. Carruth, Misses Ruth Greenfield, Gwendolyn Black, and Elva Fronabarger, Mr. Gerald Brown, Mrs. A. L. Pitt, Mrs. E. A. Prichard, Mr. and Mrs. George Gammon, Mrs. E. H. Porter, Mrs. J. J. Wright, and Mrs. R. R. Rigsby.

When the guests arrived, they wrote their names in the guest book.

ODE TO A TURKEY

A turkey looked from o'er the fence
In hopes to free himself.
There in shining coutenance
Was an ax upon a shelf.

Now the gobler, he got serious
And said, "My life's not worth a dime
If I don't get out of the calabose
Before Thanksgiving time.

I'd rather run through prickly-pears,
Being able to guadle my goope,
Than wait my execution day
And swim in turkey soup.

I'd rather do without my corn—
This life's most precious blessing—
Than be beheaded and feather-pluck
And then be stuffed with dressing.

So a tribute to the turkey
In voice of verse and rhyme
Seems to be appropriate
At good Thanksgiving time.

Purpose of Hi-Y Club Discussed By Principal Goodman

Principal A. K. Goodman of W. T. Training School spoke to a group of Canyon High School boys last Thursday who were interested in organizing a Hi-Y Club.

In his speech he discussed the value and purpose of a Hi-Y Club in the school.

The purpose of the club is to develop strong intellects, develop high moral standards, strong Christian characters, and good physical conditions.

Hi-Y has proved successful in Amarillo, Borger, Plainview, Dalhart, and at W. T. High School.

There is an encampment at Ceta Canyon for these clubs to spend their vacations.

High School Band Gives Concert For Assembly Program

The High School band under the Direction of R. G. Stevenson gave the assembly program yesterday afternoon.

It played three chorals: "God, the Mighty God," by Beethoven; "Rejoice, O My Soul," by Schuman; and "Veri Creator Spiritus," by Bach.

The band also played "America," two marches, a waltz, and a schottische.

There are forty-seven members of the band, most of which are grade school students. It is the largest band the Canyon Public Schools have ever had. The band is making its first public appearance in concert.

Studes Teach In Teachers Absence

During the absence of their instructor, Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, the home economics classes have continued their work.

Evelyn Cluck, assisted by Ruby Guthrie and Wilma Coffer, all third year girls, have supervised the freshman class.

The second year girls are working in the study hall and at home on projects continuing meal plans.

Miss Vallie Harrell, practice teacher, taught the third year girls.

4A GIVES PROGRAM ON EDUCATION AND BOOK WEEK

After studying for Education and Book Week, 4A, under the instruction of Miss Gladys McClanahan, gave a program for their parents.

Martha Jean Dowd and Anita Davis lead the group in songs. John James Harter told a story, and poems were given by Evelyn Beasley and Tommie Lou Ford. A group of 17 children gave a playlet, "Council of Books," and sang a song about books.

Visitors present were: Mesdames N. P. Sharman, E. D. Harrell, R. B. Davis, J. C. Dowd, R. L. Tate, Andy Walsh, E. M. Beasley, J. B. Morrisset, R. E. Harter, and Miss Johnney Courtney and John Morrisset.

STUDENT COUNCIL PLANS HANDBOOK THIS YEAR

A student handbook is being planned by the student council.

Many of the larger schools put out these books, but this school has never done this.

The handbook is to contain a list of all students with their addresses, schedule of classes, data concerning clubs, activity schedules, and other important topics about the school as a whole. The council plans to start on this project soon.

PLAY PRESENTED BY BOOK CLUB MONDAY

A one-act play "Knives From Syria," was presented at the regular meeting of the Book Club, Nov. 18. The characters of the play were Sarah Bonnie Bourn, Mary Ella Davis, Sarah Thompson, and Mary Charlotte Word.

Lecy Mae Furlow was in charge of the program. Helen Hurst gave a short talk on "One-act Plays in Literature." A talk, "Literary Characteristics of One-act Plays," was given by Lillian Chambers.

A short business meeting was held. A party was planned.

FIRST GRADE STUDENTS VISIT THE COX FARM

Both of the first grades visited the farm of Mr. G. W. Cox last Thursday afternoon.

Their visit was a part of their unit on Farm Life. They saw some of the farm animals, buildings, and machinery. Mrs. T. W. Collins, teacher of 1A, said that the children enjoyed riding the horse, and the ride out in the school bus.

Mrs. Cox served peanuts, pecans, and candy.

PRESS CLUB IS GIVING $2 FOR EAGLE'S TALES

ALL CLUBS OF HIGH SCHOOL WILL COMPETE FOR PRIZES FOR GREATEST NUMBER OF COMPLETE SETS SINCE SEPTEMBER 12.

Extra! Extra! The students of Canyon High School will begin rumaging the town for copies of The Eagle's Tale, next Wednesday.

This is just a little hint to the wise to rush over and ask their neighbors for their old copies of The Eagle's Tale, before the other neighborhood girls and boys get them.

The idea of this is that the Press Club is giving a prize of $2 for the high school club turning in the most complete set of back numbers of The Eagle's Tale.

The clubs expected to enter for the prize are: The Book Club, The Home Economics Club, The Pep Squad, The Glee Club, The Hi-Y Club, The Radio Club, and La Tuertulia.

The contest begins December 4, and closes December 18. The papers may be turned in to Miss Goodrich as soon as collected.

Boys' Basketball Begins Monday

With football safely laid away until next fall, the boys will begin basketball practice Monday afternoon under the direction of C. C. Jones.

The Eagles have three lettermen back from last season; they are: Thomas Harris, Jack Taylor, and Wesley Cox. Other prospective candidates are: Wandell Johnson, Ray Ford Rusk, Darwin Dobbs, Leslie Lisle, C. L. Drummond, Jack Neil Jennings, Ralph Rusk, and Jack Middleton.

The girls have undergone two weeks of hard workouts. They played a practice game with the Grade School Teachers last Tuesday.

Gerald Brown, co-coach of the girls' team said, "Although I do not know much about girls' basketball in this district, I think we will have an average team."

Books In Review

(Last week was Book Week in America).

DAVY CROCKETT

By Constance Rourke

Davy Crockett, a hero of his time, and a figure of popular legend, has an enduring interest for the young, because he was one of the most appealing of the famous American pioneers. Why should he kindle the imagination of Americans both young and old? The answer is because of his hunting exploits in the wild forest of Tennessee, his daring campaigns against the Indians, his adventures while pushing farther and farther into the unexplored western country, and because he felt crowded, because he had neighbors living seven miles from him.

There have been many books written about Crockett, bat this book not only keeps the adventurous flavor of Crockett's character, but builds up the man as no other book has done.

ON TO OREGON

By Honore' Willsie Morrow

"On To Oregon" is the story of a boy pioneer. In those pioneer days, there were boy heroes as well as heroes like Kit Carson. This book is a story of both, founded on history, in which both Kit Carson, and his young admirer, John Sager, take part.

John Sager is the chief figure in the story. With scanty supplies and equipment, John at the age of 13,, journeys toward Oregon from Missouri, with a younger brother and five sisters. His father and mother die on the road. Mrs. Morrow skillfully portrays the humor and hardships of the children, as they slowly follow the Snake River on their journey. They finally stagger into the Whitman Mission at Walla Walla.

4B ORGANIZES CLUB THURS.

4B, under the supervision of Mrs. Isabelle Cousins, organized a "Wide Awake Club" last Thursday. The purpose was to give the class some idea of how to organize a club and shoulder the responsibility of the program to be given each week.

Calvin Sanders was elected president, Pauline Winstead, vice president, and Roland Hicks, secretary. A program committee was appointed.

The club plans to have a Thanksgiving program in which it will present a play, recite poems, and sing songs having to do with Thanksgiving.

Santa Is Coming

number of attractions which will be offered.

Santa Claus is expected to be on the streets of Canyon every Saturday beginning Dec. 7th. The children will wish to meet the jovial old fellow, who will have some treats for them.

On Saturday, Dec. 14th, a group of negroes from the Palo Duro State Park will put on a free entertainment on the court house lawn. The CCC boys have a fine musical group, which will highly please the people of the county.

A big day is being planned to be announced in a few days. At that time all business houses will have attractive offerings of special Christmas bargains. For this day a special Santa Claus motion picture is being brought to Canyon and will be shown at the Olympic. Business houses will have free tickets to give to their customers which will admit them to the show. This special show will start at 3:30 in the afternoon and will continue until 5:30.

Other attractions will be added from time to time.

The business houses of Canyon are making a special effort to please their customers in offering them the greatest values ever given in this section.

Announcement of special events will be given every week in The News. Every citizen of Randall county is urged to watch for these announcements.

Soil Construction

enough moisture to grow crops which will prevent the soil from drifting.

It is understood that some counties in the Panhandle contemplate compulsory control work. This was thought to be unnecessary in Randall county for the present, at least, in view of the start which already has been made in the contouring work. With the new project set-up for one year, it is hoped that enough voluntary control measures will be put into effect so as to avoid the more drastic compulsory control program.

About fifty farmers in the county planted feed crops on level rows this year, and so far as can be learned at the County Agent's office, all of them are pleased with the results. They not only have a stubble sufficient to hold the soil but a good feed crop as well.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE IS HELD ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., a Thanksgiving service was held Tuesday night at the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Stuart Marsh, pastor of the local Christian Church, preached the Thanksgiving sermon.

No other general Thanksgiving service will be held by the churches this year.

Former Citizens of County Celebrated 50th Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Campbell of Bushland celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 12th. A number of friends and relatives gave them a pleasant surprise, including Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Campbell and Mrs. E. D. Harrell of Canyon.

Their marriage took place at Jacksboro, November 12, 1885.

After living on the ranch of Mrs. Campbell's father for several years they decided to set out for themselves in West Texas, selecting a place in Randall county for the first home of their own.

Mr. Campbell was accompanied to the plains by his brother-in-law Bill McElroy, and his brother, W. B. Campbell, now of Canyon. They traveled by wagon, using four mules.

Lumber to build the Campbell's ranch house 10 miles south of Canyon had to be hauled down from Amarillo, a distance of about 30 miles. This made construction of their home slow, but it was ready for occupancy late in February.

Mrs. Campbell's sister, Mrs. Jennie Barks and two children accompanied her and Mrs. McElroy to the Plains that winter.

After Mr. and Mrs. Campbell lived on the place south of Canyon for a few years they sold out to purchase a ranch north and west of Canyon. He sold that ranch in 1897, moved to Potter county, the ranch headquarters being three miles north of Bushland. They have lived on that ranch, their third home for the last 38 years.

They have two children, Mrs. Sadie Holden, who lives at Visalia, Cal., and Lindsey Campbell, who is manager of their ranch.

The book "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" had a big sale in spite of the fact that most of us don't.

Tax Survey

the State Tax Commissioner that the work would start this week, and asked the co-operation of county officials.

The purpose is to see that every piece of property in the county is paying taxes, and to determine the system of valuation used as between the counties of the state.

WPA has given Texas $3,000,000 for this work, and Randall county has been assigned $8,000 for the project.

work may be continued on these walls.

All of the wooden fence around Buffalo field was removed this week preparatory to starting work on the rock wall as rapidly as men are released from other projects.

Mr. Willis explained that WPA was getting started in this district in a most satisfactory manner. The mistakes of CWA and relief are being avoided as much as possible under the new plan.

A sewing project was started yesterday at the relief office. This project is sewing, and will take care of the women. Mrs. Roy Campbell has been chosen as foreman for this work.

Six women were started in this work. Working over old garments, and making new ones will be the work undertaken. About a dozen women are expected to be employed. The women will receive the same wage scale as allowed for the men working under WPA.
